

The photo on the left is a picture that I took of myself. SALT stands for Senior Action Leadership Team. This team leads retreats for the juniors and seniors at my high school. It is an honor to be a part of this team because only twenty people are chosen. On the right is my drawing of this self-portrait. It was done in charcoal. Being a part of this leadership team meant the world to me, because I was able to share my story living with Cystic Fibrosis with so many people.
