

The pictures you take have a different meaning depending on where you are in life's journey.

