

When approaching my creative project, I knew I wanted to create something that displayed my life's journey with CF. I instantly thought about time lapse videos I had seen that show a person's entire life in a matter of seconds. However, since I am unable to go back in time and create a time lapse video of my own life, I decided to draw my own version of this idea. Rather than draw myself, I chose to draw a pair of lungs to symbolically represent me. These 10 cards show the progression of my life with CF: beginning with the pain, sorrow, and hardships but ultimately ending with the beauty, triumph, and joy. These cards are incredibly special to me because they show my entire life in 10 simple pictures, but they also hint at the future: a future where CF no longer controls my life.
